

KING, REGINALD

ROYAL NAVY

served on HMS URE

Died on his return to civilian life, 14th September 1919

Aged 33

Husband of Edith M. King of Fingringhoe (In Memoriam Essex County Standard 18th September 1920). He is listed as returning from service in the Royal Navy on the Memorial list originally held in Saint Andrew's , Fingringhoe. His grave was not listed as a Commonwealth War Grave.

HMS URE a River Class Destroyer

HMS Ure was launched 25th October 1904 and broken up in 1919. The River Class destroyer marked the break between torpedo boats and true destroyers and set the destroyer programmes of Britain and other major naval powers until 1916. The class served the Royal Navy well and was used during WWI for patrol and escort duties. due to their higher silhouette which made them more visible they were less suited for surprise torpedo attacks.
